HATTIESBURG, THE HUB CITY OF SOUTH MISSISSIPPI, IS THE ENVIRONMENT FOR THIS CONTEMPORARY BAPTIST INSTITUTION

Interaction between the school and the community is vital to both. Bringing their talents to the city are students who add their skills to the work force of the community and students who fill positions of responsibility in the churches. They reap many rewards in return for their services—knowledge of professional demands, additional vocational experience, and a greater understanding of their specific function within the churches. To the students, Hattiesburg offers a series of unique opportunities; to the city, Carey students offer a variety of unique talents. The strong bond of mutual dependence which exists between Carey and the community can form the basis for the future growth and development of the Hub City and William Carey College.

A COLLEGE DEDICATED TO THE PREPARATION OF STUDENTS FOR CHRISTIAN LIVING BY FULLY DEVELOPING THE TALENTS OF THE INDIVIDUAL

Searching inwardly to evaluate his potential and reaching outwardly to others for support, the Carey student is encouraged in his eternal striving to attain the limits of his particular talent or skill. Practicing music, studying class notes, attending lectures—all fit into the bigger scheme, the broader, more complex framework of the individual's personal goals. Ever-reaching and ever-grasping, the student is caught up in developing spiritual values, in formulating a personal philosophy of morality, in realizing his responsibilities to himself and to his God. As the Carey student recognizes the value of the opportunities for development which are presented to him, he is compelled to strive to become a self-actualized person.

IN LOOKING TOWARD TOMORROW, WILLIAM CAREY
CONTINUES TO BUILD FOR THE FUTURE.

The sight of mud-spattered trucks and hard-hatted construction workers has become a familiar one to Carey students. New buildings and additions to the old buildings are required now to adequately meet the needs of a continually growing student body. As the face of the campus changes and the number of students increases, the basic philosophy of the college is repeatedly challenged. The question of our ability to remain true to the Christian principles upon which this institution is founded has been answered affirmatively. For the real pride of Carey is not the new buildings—bigger and better than ever before—and not the enlarged student body, but pride in the fulfillment of a promise. When great things are attempted, great things are accomplished.

TO DEVELOP STRONG BODIES AND WHOLESOME HABITS THROUGH ACTIVITIES OF A RECREATIONAL AND ATHLETIC NATURE

William Carey holds high the symbolic torch of athletic achievement. Participation in competitive sports is encouraged through intra-mural programs and inter-collegiate athletics. Learning the principles of fair play and sportsmanship is an integral part of the total athletic program. Carey athletes, striving to attain a higher degree of skill, thrive on competition. Matching their abilities with other teams, they continue to set new records of achievement—a challenge to future generations of athletes and sportsmen.

TO PREPARE STUDENTS FOR LIVES OF USEFULNESS AND ASSOCIATIONS IN THE SOCIETY OF WHICH THEY ARE A PART.

Practicing a standard code of behavior would be adequate preparation for students only if society were static. However, society is not static. Therefore, students must be trained to meet the demands of an ever-changing environment. To fill this need, William Carey strives to instill in its graduates a sense of social responsibility. Students are taught that it is not enough to accept the benefits of their culture; they must give something in return. The highest goal which a school can establish is one which attempts to graduate students who are ready to become productive, responsible members of a demanding society.

THUS, WE AT WILLIAM CAREY BELIEVE EVERY MAN HAS A CHARACTER ALL HIS OWN AND A MISSION NO ONE ELSE CAN FULFILL

Helping each student to discover the complete nature of his character and the full meaning of his mission is a responsibility which William Carey gladly claims. Once this responsibility is claimed, each individual is taught to accept his mission and realize its contribution to mankind as a duty to be completed by him alone. People are not fitted into molds at Carey; they are stimulated to carve a new niche in the long continuum of life. The commission is direct and easily understood: attempt great things; expect great things.

THIS VOLUME IS DEDICATED TO DR. LILLIAN WEIDENHAMMER

Because you came to us from a background rich in cultural, spiritual and academic experience—

Because you broadened our horizons and helped us to search for the good in man beyond the bounds of our own frame of reference—

Because you challenged us to be realistic where realism is needed, to be inquisitive where curiosity is needed, and to be something more than human when greatness is needed—

Because you taught us to be strong in conviction, firm in resolution, and consistent in pursuit—

Because you led us by example to love the good, the true, and the noble—

Because you are the epitomy of selflessness and generosity of spirit—

We love you, honor you, and dedicate this 1967-68 CRUSADER to you.

The President of William Carey College

DR. J. RALPH NOONKESTER

The Carey College campus each year brings together several hundred young people into a closely knit community. The friendships which are formed constitute one of the lasting values of the college years.

The CRUSADER 1968 is primarily a record of your school friendships. Your participation in the life of a unique Christian community here at Carey has helped you to know young people from many states and countries abroad. The pages of this book portray the classroom situations, the work situations, the religious situations and the recreational situations in which you have developed your meaningful friendships.

It is my sincere hope that you have discovered that there is no finer place to meet worthy young people than the Carey College campus.

The Carey Chorale is a selected choral organization chosen to represent the college musically off campus. Each Fall one hears the moans and screams of joy as students audition and the selected group becomes the Chorale. The selection was excellent for they have rated outstandingly as they have toured four states appearing before churches, high schools, and colleges. Perhaps one of their most outstanding performances came in their own auditorium when they presented Te Deum, from "Four Sacred Pieces" with the New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra.

UNDER MILK WOOD

by Dylan Thomas

The 1967 fall production brought the presentation of "Under Milk Wood" by Dylan Thomas. A moving and hilarious account of a spring day in a small Welsh coast town, the play begins with dreams and ghost before dawn, moves through the brilliant, noisy day of the townspeople and closes as the "rain of dusk brings on the bawdy night."

"And the inspectors of cruelty fly down into Mrs. Butcher Beynon's (Nan Ditsworth) dream to persecute Mr. Beynon (John Garrett) for selling owl meat, dog's eyes, man chop."

SING OUT '67 THIS WAY AMERICA by Diane Crews

From New York to San Francisco, from Detroit to Dallas, young people of this nation have been voicing their "we won't go" philosophy concerning the war in Viet Nam. Hippies, pot, LSD, and flower power are words on the lips of everyone in this country today. Parents and leaders are sometimes being brainwashed into thinking that almost all the younger generation think, act, and agree with these ideas. But fortunately this is not true, and the Serampore Players proved that young Americans are still patriotic and are willing to stand behind their country as they presented the musical production, "Sing Out '67—This Way America."

Linda Waldon and Hank Guest say, "You can't live crooked and think straight."

Hippies, Gary Johnson and Jon Davis say, "We won't go."

Adina (Ellen Tolbert) speaks to Magdala (Donna Butler), "Oh, if only I knew where your body lies! Oh Peter! My Rock!"

The Serampore Players began touring religious dramas in 1961. In the six years of touring they have performed over 150 times in ten states to an estimated 40,000 persons. The group traveled over 8000 miles in 1966 and encompassed 12,000 miles, extending as far south as Miami and as far north as Illinois and Washington, as they presented the 1967 production, "The Rock".

"The Rock" is a deeply religious play about the character development of Simon Peter. The play shows Simon's advancement in God's service with the play beginning a short time before Simon meets the Master and ends just after the crucifixion, with Peter's final speech: "I am empty: Jehovah fill me. I am weak. O Master, give me strength. O God, what flame of fire is this I feel within my veins? It is eternal strength! O Friend, in me shall thy truth live! O Jesus—Master—at last, I understand, I am Peter, the Rock."

Deborah (Diane Crews) is told by Ucal (Jon Davis) and Magdala (Donna Butler) that Jesus of Nazareth is dead.

FEATURES

EDITOR
Donna Bush

Representing the special activities, honors, and events which add variety to our college life, "Features" stresses ability and achievement. Herein are represented the superlatives—the most beautiful, the most intelligent, the most active. Each has achieved far beyond his limitations; each has reached for a star. These people have cast their light, when they might have only cast shadows.

Mr. and Miss Carey College

THOM McNEIL
SUSIE EPPERSON

Seeking to choose that man and that woman who most fittingly embody the spirit of William Carey, the students each year elect Mr. and Miss Carey College. Thom McNeil and Susie Epperson have been selected to wear that mantle of good faith, to receive the highest tribute which their fellow students can give. To them has passed the responsibility, and the honor, of being Mr. and Miss Carey College.

RICHARD RUSSO

Every member of the student body is carefully considered before final choice for Hall of Fame membership is made. The highest of honors is given to these students who are chosen to represent scholarship, citizenship and leadership.

The scholarship award is presented to the student who has maintained the highest academic record throughout his college career. Faye Cole is the recipient of this outstanding award for the year 1968.

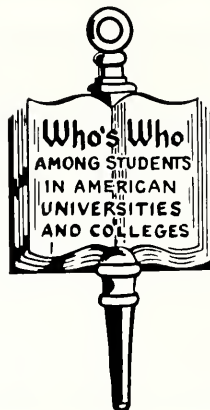

A secret committee of faculty members appointed by President J. Ralph Noonkester each year chooses two students, a boy and a girl, who best exemplify the quality of citizenship. This year Sandy Castleberry and Randy Read were chosen.

The faculty members voted by secret ballot and selected Richard Russo as the Hall of Fame representative for leadership. Richard has served as president of the Student Government Association this year.

It is with pleasure we salute these young people who have served so faithfully the cause of William Carey College.

Homecoming 1967

Highlighting the homecoming activities was the Crusaders' exciting basketball game. Bolstering school spirit with their enthusiasm, the cheerleaders spurred the team on to victory. The crowning ceremony of the homecoming court added to the pageantry of the special afternoon. The alumni activities included a banquet where Bill Mitchell received the award for Outstanding Alumnus from Alon Coletti, president of the Alumni Association. Interested attention of visitors to the campus focused on the class projects, each an interpretation of the theme, "Spirit of '68".

Mary Winders, freshman representative, escorted by Steve Williams, was first to step through the crossed swords. Then came Susan Breeden, the sophomore class maid, and her escort, Charles Barfield; followed by Carmen Gandy, representing the junior class, escorted by Eddie Gandy. The senior class was represented by Jo Ann Flanagan and her escort, Thom McNeil. Finally, Leon Tingle stepped under the swords, bringing to us our lovely queen, Peggy Sue Finch.

Adding their charm to the May Day activities are the girls selected by their societies to serve in the May Day Court. Each year, a maid of honor is chosen, as well as two girls from each campus society.

phinians; Sue Round, Thalias; LaNita Cochran, Litaeans; and Lynda Lindrigin, Thalias.

May Day

From the early morning registration of our guests to the afternoon pageant, May Day is an important event in the life of our college. Prospective students, alumni, and trustees—all enjoy meeting one another and learning about the growth and development of Carey. At the same time, the guests are entertained by campus groups, such as the Serampore Players. The afternoon events are usually highlighted by a baseball game. The day's activities add up to May Day fun for everyone.

Fine Arts Series

On October 20, William Carey College was fortunate to be able to present in concert the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra with the Carey Chorale. Together they presented Giuseppe Verdi's Te Deum. Werner Torkanowsky conducted the symphony and Donald Winters conducted the Chorale.

SGA Presents . . . The Lettermen

From soft mood music with the "smoochy" blue light to the final encore, the Lettermen, Tony Butala, Bob Engeman, and Jim Pike, delighted a capacity audience with their repertoire of popular music on November 9. The concert, sponsored by the SGA, was the second program of the fine arts series.

Crusaders 1967-68

The 1967-68 Crusader Basketball team, under the direction of head coach John O'Keefe, and assistant coach John Stevenson, had seven returning lettermen as well as three new faces to give them a substantial head start this year. After hours of long practice and hard work the Crusaders were ready to prove their abilities against such teams as Pensacola Navy, Huntingdon College, Mississippi College, and a host of other teams. Although two seniors are graduating, Joe Walker and Joe Stover, the Crusaders look forward to a tremendous season next year with the returning players.

Cheerleaders

School spirit is the one attitude that must be felt throughout the entire student body if a team is to come out with victory after victory. The William Carey College Cheerleaders make every effort to instill this feeling every time a game is played. Much work and time goes into developing a well organized group of leaders, and these girls have proved themselves capable representatives of the Crusader Spirit.

Baseball 1967-68

The 1967-68 William Carey Baseball team coached by John O'Keefe, is now ready to show their abilities and superiority. Along with seven returning players there are several new faces to be seen this season. As much diligent practice and hard work these young men put forth, we will be able to see many victories for Carey this season and possibly a trip to the NALA Regional Tournament.
